

Evidence-based periodontal plastic surgery

Leandro Chambrone, Sao Paulo BR

He holds a degree in Dentistry from the Methodist University of São Paulo - UMESP (1999), specialization in Orthodontics and Facial Orthopedics - UMESP (2004), specialization, master's degree (2008), doctorate (2012) and postdoctoral degree (2013) in Dental Clinics (Area of concentration - Peridontia) by the University of São Paulo - FOU SP. He is currently Associate Professor at the Basic Oral Research Unit (UIBO), Universidad El Bosque (Colombia), Professor of the Master's Degree in Dental Sciences at the University of Ibirapuera (Unib), visiting Professor of the Department of Periodontology at the University of Iowa and reviewing member of the Cochrane Oral Health Group (The Cochrane Collaboration - Manchester-United Kingdom). He has experience in clinical and scientific areas, with emphasis on Periodontics, Orthodontics, Facial Orthopedics and Evidence-Based Dentistry, working mainly on the following topics: repair of soft and hard tissues (treatment of gingival retraction, bone defects and osseointegration), periodontal-orthodontic treatment of periodontal patients, site-based revisions and meta-analyzes. Author / co-author of approximately 90 scientific articles / book chapters published or accepted for publication in Germany, Brazil, Canada, USA and England.