

Mucogingival surgery and conservative dentistry: An alliance for health and esthetics
Massimo de Sanctis, Milano-Firenze

He obtained his doctorate in Medicine with honors from the University of Florence on July 12, 1978. Also from the University of Florence he received his Doctorate in Odontostomatology with honors. In 1982, graduated in Periodontology at Boston University, from the same University he obtained a Master of Science degree in Periodontology for an experimental study which he conducted between 1982 and 1983. During this time he was member of the research program for Boston University's Department of Periodontology. In 1987, he was appointed professor of Periodontology at the II University of Rome where he taught until 1989. From 1989 to 1999, he has held various teaching positions at the University of Bologna. From 2000 to 2014, he was Professor of Periodontology at the University of Siena. From 2015 he was nominated Professor at the University Vita-Salute San Raffaele Milano. He is chairman of the program in Periodontology at the University Vita-Salute San Raffaele Milano and Head of the department of Periodontology Oral Hygiene and Preventive Dentistry. He was President of The Congress Europerio 2 in Florence. Member of the Organizing Committee of the Congress Europerio 5 in Madrid. He is member of the Congress Organisation Committee of the European Federation of Periodontology. He is Fellow of the International College of Dentistry. Member of the American Academy of Periodontology. Past president of the Italian Society of Periodontology and Implantology. Past president of the Italian Coordinating Committee for the Scientific Societies.